Transforming Your Sustainability Journey

Transitioning to a low carbon, sustainable future brings a paradigm shift from business as usual and presents us with numerous opportunities and risks. Now embedding sustainability across businesses and their value chain is more important than ever. Stakeholders are demanding more environmental, social and governance (ESG) efforts and consumers expect organizations to make a strong commitment to Circular Economy and Climate Action

CCR brings decades of industry experience to partner with our clients working towards their sustainability journey. We develop and implement strategies, frameworks, and operating modules to optimize processes, and deliver a slew of technologies and digital applications to help our clients in various facets of Sustainability and Climate Action.

"Innovation and digital transformation are critical for rapid, scientific and steady progress towards Net-Zero emissions for a sustainable future."

-Dr. Om Dubey, CEO

Our Vision

CCR thrives on developing disruptive and cutting-edge solutions and service offerings for Climate Action and Sustainability within the markets it serves. We strive to:

- Leave an impact with disruption and transformation that drives sustainable outcomes, reduces carbon emissions, and helps in managing Climate Change Vulnerabilities.
  - Play a more active role in partnering with firms to implement sustainable development goals.
  - Support the communities in which we operate with time, energy, and resources.
  - Building sustainable enterprises, strategies, and plans that enable long-term growth ensuring embedded sustainability.
  - Provide value to our customers that contribute to their all-around success.
  - Drive organizational and cultural change to adopt sustainable practices
- Personal service: We don't 'cookie-cut' solutions to our clients, we make the extra effort on our part for each customer and pride ourselves on getting to understand your business in detail and tailor a solution unique to your needs.
  - Diversity and depth of knowledge & experience: Having worked with industries, governments, and businesses across a variety of geographics including Australia, Asia, and Europe, we have an extended network of partners, who we can call on to build the right team for the job.
  - Cost-effectiveness: We only provide appropriate and cost-effective services that our clients require, without unnecessary padding or trying to lock them into propriety systems, or upselling services they don't need.
  - Technical depth: All our team members are technologists by training-engineers, physicists, scientists, and have experience applying this in the industry before moving into the world of business and consultancy.
  - Flexibility & focus on opportunities: We add value to your business by developing opportunities for saving, better processes, and gaining a competitive advantage.

Our Values

At CCR, team members embraces and strive to uphold our values each day. These long-held principles have guided the company for decades, from the strategic development of our business to the daily actions of our team members.
